Fear 27 Perished In Crash

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) -Four rescue workers prepared to make a hazardous parachute jump into dense jungle today hoping to find survivors of an Aeromexico passenger plane which crashed near here.

The plane, a DC9 flying from Houston, Tex., spurted flame and crashed into a rugged mountain about 25 miles south of this Pacific coast resort Wednesday night. It carried 27 persons, including several Americans.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to explode or burst into flame as it made its final approach to the Puerto Vallarta airport. It then plowed into El Moro Mountain between the villages of Chimo and Chocala in an area so rugged that rescue workers could not reach the site on

The four parachutists, members of a especially trained Red Cross unit from Mexico City, waited for a low cloud cover to clear before attempting the jump.

Officials directing the rescue operation said they had no definitive word on the fate of the 23 passengers and 4 crew members but those who had flown over the site at low altitude said they saw no sign of

The area where the plane crashed is one of the most rugged on the Mexican Pacific coast. Chimo is so remote that the fastest way to reach it from Puerto Vallarta is by boat, a trip of 25 miles. By unpaved road it is a trip of 49 miles.

The officials said they had no idea what caused the crash.

will sign today an "agreement on principles" regarding limitation on nuclear offensive weapons, White House spokesman Ronald L. Ziegler : aid.

DEMOCRAT

The agreement, to be signed in midafternoon in the White House East Room in Washington, will outline basic principles of negotiation for U.S. and Soviet negotiators at the now-recessed Strategic Arms Limitation Talks—SALT—in Geneva.

Ziegler said Nixon and Brezhnev put the finishing touches on their agreement late in the evening Wednesday in their summit

He said the President and the Communist leader, at the same time, will sign a second agreement between their two countries "on scientific and technical cooperation in the peaceful uses of atomic energy.'

The announcement came as Nixon and Brezhnev prepared for their fourth day of direct talks. They began their first meeting of the day at 11:30 a.m. in Dogwood Lodge, the quarters assigned to the Soviet leader.

They were to get together at 11 a.m. after meeting first privately with top aides.

Nixon and Brezhnev, who came to this presidential retreat 75 miles northwest of Washington Tuesday night, spent most of Wednesday afternoon and evening talking about international issues and the stalled efforts to achieve permanent limitations on their countries' massive nuclear arsenals.

As they began Wednesday's session, Brezhnev told newsmen that his talks with Nixon "without question," would produce "good results."

The agreement giving instructions to the Geneva SALT negotiators is not a treaty, but is considered essential to get the stalled arms limitations talks moving again.

It could rival in importance the pair of pacts reached last spring in Moscow when Nixon and Brezhnev held their first summit. Those accords placed permanent limits on nuclear defensive systems and a five-year limitation on some offensive missiles.

Before coming to Camp David, Nixon and Brezhnev witnessed the signing of four modest bilateral agreements on agricultural, oceanographic, transportation and cultural exchanges.

Then, while they were at the presidential retreat Wednesday, lower-level officials signed a reciprocal income tax agreement.

Brezhnev is to host a banquet for Nixon and other ranking U.S. officials tonight at the Soviet Embassy.

Explosion Destroys House in Smithton

A Smithton family miraculously escaped injury at 11 a.m. Thursday when their home literally blew apart.

Mrs. Carol Hardesty and her three children were all in the house when Mrs. Hardesty heard a "big explosion" and "flames erupted along the walls," she said.

Mrs. Hardesty told The Democrat-Capital that two of her children, Cathy, 12, and Jim. 11, were upstairs in their room, while the baby, Zachary, 3, was in the dining room. She said she was in the back bedroom when the explosion took place.

Mrs. Hardesty's husband, Ed, was at work at the time of the explosion and was notified shortly after it happened.

Although the cause of the blast was not immediately known, Mrs. Hardesty reported that it occurred directly under the bedroom in which she was standing. She said there is a furnace in the basement directly below that room.

"I saw flames all along the walls," Mrs. Hardesty said, "and then it seemed like everything was falling in. I started screaming for them (the children) but they were already coming downstairs."

The heat was so intense, according to Mrs. Hardesty, that it "took my breath away" and the children reported that the brass bannister on the stairs was "too hot

A neighbor, Mrs. Maxine Howard, heard the explosion and immediately contacted the Smithton volunteer fire department and an ambulance.

"Everyone was wonderful," said Mrs. Hardesty. "The fire department came right away and put the fire out quickly and everyone is doing all they can."

Made Fatal Flight

HOUSTON (AP) - Mr. and Mrs. Charles Magavero of St. Louis, Mo., were listed by Aeromexico as having boarded at Houston the plane which crashed near Puerto

The force of the explosion caused the entire west wall of the home to collapse and left the interior a complete shambles. The refrigerator door was reportedly blown open and all the contents thrown out onto the floor.

The violence of the explosion caused walls to buckle and most of the windows were blown out. Only a small, lower portion of the front door remained. The yard was a shambles, littered with broken glass and household articles. The entire west wall leaned crookedly against the rest of the house.

The Hardestys moved into the home last weekend. They formerly lived in Sedalia.

Designed to Work

New, Positive Approach Is Noted in Laws

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo. (AP) - Most of the bills passed during the 1973 session of the Missouri Legislature do not directly touch the people But a fair number do, and in a positive way.

Of course, there are some that can be viewed as good or bad, depending on

One of these is the bill that could put some school children in class during the summer months. Mothers may think it a wise move to allow school districts to operate their sessions over a 12-month period. Many pupils will wonder how such a bill ever got passed.

But the students can rejoice in this one: smallpox immunization shots will no longer be required of pupils because the danger of the disease has been reduced. Following are some of the other bills passed before last Friday's deadline. Most of them still require the governor's signature and a 90-day waiting period before becoming law.

Bolster Patrol Strength

Drivers will have to contend with an extra 50 highway patrolmen. The patrol's strength goes to 800.

Vehicle inspectors can up their license inspection fee from $2.50 to $3.50, effective next Jan. 1.

Recipients of Aid to Dependent Children payments will get an extra $5 monthly, the first raise in six years.

Persons swept off their feet by door-to-door salesmen will have three days in which to cancel their orders.

Persons can get a tax break for redeveloping property in a blighted area. Couples who adopt hard-to-place children, such as minority group or handicapped youngsters, can get a state subsidy. Motorists can get initials, or other letters and numbers up to six digits on their license plates, but it will cost $12 extra.

Persons in wheelchairs will find new public buildings will have to meet standards for accommodating them, such as providing ramps, walk-ways and

Missouri University students will be able to transfer their credits from one campus to another in the four-school system.

Persons buying drugs will find the exact name and dosage printed on each label. The new requirement is to assist medical personnel in emergencies. Drivers of pickup trucks will no longer have to stop at highway weight

A young woman can become a registered nurse at age 19, instead of 20.

Pensions Are Increased

Blind persons will receive a $110-a-month state pension, an increase of $10. Persons changing the mileage recorder on a vehicle can be charged with a

Mobile home dwellers must have their homes anchored to the ground. Taxpayers will be assessed at a rate of 33 1-3 per cent of true value on real and personal property beginning Dec. 31, 1974. Persons could buy liquor by the drink at resorts in unincorporated areas.

An unknown number of handicapped children who have been bypassed by the public school system will now get special education. Persons over 65 whose yearly earnings are $7,500 or less can get tax relief on property tax bills up to $400. The formula is: four per cent of income subtracted from the tax bill equals the amount of credit that can be deducted from state income taxes. Eighteen per cent of yearly rent can count as a tax bill. A couple wanting a divorce can obtain one a little easier and with fewer legal hassles. No longer will one partner have to assume the blame for the breakup, if both parties agree the marriage is "irretrievably broken." Auto insurance policy holders will no longer be canceled arbitrarily, but only for non-payment of premiums or if the driver's license is revoked. State probation and parole officers, National Guardsmen, and some 8,000 state employes who receive less salary because they live in urban areas, will be getting special pay raises.

Objectors Get Their Way

Members of religious groups objecting to having their pictures made will not be required to have their photos on drivers' licenses. Young drivers will not be able to raise the front or rear of an auto so high so that it obstructs the vision of the driver. Those failing to return rented or leased property, such as autos, can be charged with stealing.

Blind or physically disabled voters will get help in marking and depositing Prison inmates will no longer work under a $1-a-day limit pay for their labor.

Owners of commercial vehicles weighing 12,000 pounds or less must license them on a monthly rather than yearly basis. The legislators took care of themselves by passing a bill to increase their daily expense allowance from $10 to $25.

Skylab Spruced Up; Return Home Next

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) -Skylab's astronauts quietly and efficiently put their space station in order today as they prepared to return to earth Friday at the end of a record 28-day mission.

On their last full day in orbit, Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz cleaned the house-size laboratory, getting it ready for the Skylab 2 crew that is to visit the station for 56 days starting July

At their request, the astronauts were up an hour earlier today, at 2 a.m. EDT, to complete the two-day deactivation of the lab. Included was transfer of film, tapes and other experiment equipment into the Apollo ferry ship. By 6 a.m., before most Americans were up, they were eating lunch and were ahead of schedule. Later, the capsule communicator was greeted with a cheer when he told the crew the carrier Ticonderoga had practiced an landing at a distance of 41/2 miles "and the time from splash to hatch open on the deck was 33 minutes." "Fantastic," Conrad exclaimed. "But we hope to beat 41/2 miles."

Scientists eagerly await data from the medical, earth resources, solar astronomy and other experiments, the most extensive ever conducted in space. At 3:45 a.m. EDT Friday, the astronauts will detach the Apollo from one end of the 118-foot-long lab. After making a flyaround photographic inspection of the station, they'll execute the first of three engine firings that will bring them back to Splashdown is scheduled for 9:50 a.m. EDT in the Pacific Ocean 830 miles southwest of San Diego, Calif. The main recovery ship, the carrier Ticonderoga, radioed a favorable weather forecast for the landing.

18 Months Makes a Lot of Difference

Those Travel Dollars Have Slowly Lost Value

LONDON (AP) - An American who put aside money 18 months ago to pay for a trip abroad will find each dollar worth only about 75 cents of its former value in Europe today as a result of three devaluations.

He probably heard about the first two devaluations-formal steps announced by the White House and sent to Congress for approval. They reduced the dollar's buying power overseas by 8.58 per cent in December 1971 and by 10 per cent in February

The third devaluation might be a surprise to the traveler. It was a creeping devaluation, informal and unannounced, and decided in the market place, rather than through negotiations among governments.

Since devaluation No. 2, the dollar has been allowed to float against other important currencies according to supply and demand. Governments no longer were obligated to defend fixed exchange rates.

In some respects, the floating system worked. There were no more world monetary crises. But the dollar kept floating- more or less steadily downward. Since February, it has lost about 7 per cent in its buying power against an average of leading world currencies, bringing the total shrinkage from the three devaluations to about 25 per cent.

Associated Press correspondents in several European capitals asked bankers, gold dealers, economists and government officials to explain the dollar's weakness since February.

Their answers were remarkably alike on the causes. But proposals for correcting the weakness were far apart.

All those questioned in The AP's survey mentioned Watergate and inflation prominently. They suggested that Watergate would weaken President Nixon's ability to solve U.S. economic problems and that American inflation would erode the value of the dollar. "I see deeper economic causes in worldwide inflation," said

Paul Lichtenberg, spokesman for the executive board of Commerzbank in Frankfurt, Germany. "The Watergate affair was probably only the psychological trigger factor...

As confidence in the dollar has waned, wealthy individuals, multinational corporations and Middle East oil interests have shifted their assets out of dollars into the relative safety of gold. 'No one can say for certain whether the growing distrust in the dollar set off the run into gold or whether it was gold that Guido Carli, influential governor of the Bank of Italy, this month suggested either raising the official price of gold or letundermined confidence in U.S. currency," a Zurich gold dealer said. "It is like asking which came first, the chicken or the egg." ting government central banks sell gold on the free market. Either move would take pressure off the dollar.

French Finance Minister Valery Giscard d'Estaing said the United States should support the dollar by resuming dollar purchases on world money markets.

Neither view has attracted much international support. Economists, officials and bankers also differ on whether floating or fixed exchange rates are preferable.

While the arguing continues, money markets remain uncer-At the moment, gold is down from record highs and the dollar is up from record lows. But no one can say for certain what will happen next. There is nothing to prevent the dollar from floating back up again, if the market decides it was oversold during its long slump. But more Watergate developments damaging to the Nixon administration could depress the dollar further.

Amtrak Route Is Given New Chance

Amtrak train service to Sedalia will not be discontinued effective July 1, as originally indicated by the Department of Transportation, The Democrat-Capital was told Wednesday.

Rep. William J. Randall said he had received a letter from the Interstate Commerce Commission stating that it had received no application for discontinuance from Amtrak regarding the St. Louis-Kansas City passenger train route.

Randall said the ICC pointed out that service cannot be dropped unless the ICC authorizes it. He said he was told that the ICC, which inserted the Missouri route in the original Amtrak bill, favors retaining it in the public interest. Changes have been sought in the Amtrak law to eliminate the need for ICC authorization, Randall said, but such a move was recently defeated in the Senate. He said he hoped the House would follow the Senate's lead.

The Department of Transportation is seeking to eliminate Amtrak's National Limited run as an economy measure.

Guilty Verdict Handed Down For One Man

CLAYTON, Mo. (AP) James Roy Hill, one of five men charged in the killing of two men last year during the holdup of a Maplewood, Mo., tavern, was found guilty Wednesday on two counts of murder and two counts each of armed robbery and assault with intent to kill.

A St. Louis County Circuit Court jury deliberated about two hours before returning the verdicts in the court of Judge Drew Luten.

Hill, 21, was charged in connection with the March 1972 robbery of Cousin Hugo's Tavern, which left off-duty policeman John Galline and chemist John Haggerty dead. The two murder convictions carry penalties of life in prison. and the jury of five women and seven men assessed 100-year prison terms for each of the other counts.

Hill was the fourth man to be convicted in the case. Theodore R. Johnson, Robert Lucius Toney and Christopher Davis have already been convicted. Louis Jones is scheduled to stand trial in September.

Maximum Production Of Oil Authorized

AUSTIN (AP) - The Texas Railroad Commission has authorized maximum oil production for most fields in July, but it warned that the state's oil and gas industry is in a process of self-liquidation unless new reserves are round.

The commission said Monday that new gas and oil discoveries are running about 10 per cent of the amount of gas and oil produced in the state each month.

Pollution

Cuts Down

On Sunlight

WASHINGTON (AP) - Pollution reduces the amount of sunlight reaching earth, say government scientists who have conducted tests in the St. Louis

A study by the National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration compared the sunlight reaching ground level in St. Louis with sunlight filtering through in nearby rural areas.

On a clear day, 2 to 3 per cent of the sunlight was blocked by pollution, meteorologists James T. Peterson and Edwin C. Flowers reported Wednesday after a month's research.

Over a 28-day period, the meteorologists said they found St. Louis received 6.5 per cent less sunlight than the outlying regions, indicating the city experienced more cloudiness than the rural areas.

The two scientists worked on the project with the Environmental Protection Agency's weather laboratory.

The announcement of the experiment described it as a pilot study that could lead to a larger measuring network spon-sored by EPA to examine the effects of air pollution and man-made climate changes.

Want Funds Used to Cut Taxes

By 47-40 per cent, the American people say they would prefer to see the new funds from federal revenue sharing used in their state to cut taxes rather than to improve and expand state services. This result will confirm the worry of some opponents of revenue sharing that the funds allocated by the federal government will be diverted from social programs formerly funded from Washington.

When the public was asked to choose specifically where it would like to see revenue-sharing funds used within their own states, "aid to education" was at the head of the list. followed by "spending on health" and "programs for the poor." At the bottom of the list were "spending on highways" and "spending on mass transportation."

A higher priority than any of these specific programs. however, was the feeling for reduction in the tax load the public is now bearing. The nationwide cross section of 1.537 households was recently asked: "If you had to choose, would you prefer to see the new money from federal revenue sharing used to really improve and expand needed programs in the state, or used to replace current money being spent on programs so that state taxes could be lowered?'

	Improve Programs	Cut Taxes	Not Sure
Nationwide	40	47	13
By Education
Eighth grade or less	32	49	19
High school	37	49	14
College	48	42	10
By Income
Under $5,000	35	47	18
$5,000-9,999	39	48	13
$10,000-14,999	41	49	10
$15,000 and over	47	41	12
By Age			12
Under 30	47	40	13
30-49	38	49	13
50 and over	35	51	14

Only among the better educated, higher income, and younger segments of the public can pluralities be found who would rather spend revenue-sharing funds for expanded programs within the states than applying the new monies to tax cutting. Leading the pack in demanding tax cuts are older people, lower income people, and the least well educated. Ironically, of course, the lower income people might be the group to benefit most from expanded social programs at the state level.

The biggest news is that above and beyond the desired spending for education, health and the poor, more Americans would rather see the federal revenue sharing funds end up in their own pockets in the form of tax refunds. For some time now a majority of 55 per cent of the public has felt that it does not get its money's worth from the tax dollars paid in at all levels of government.

For the claim to be realized that federal revenue spending would allow states and localities to set their own priorities where they can more sensitively assess just where the need is greatest, much more education of the American public will obviously be necessary. At the moment, the public sees revenue sharing as a way to eliminate the pressures of local property and sales taxes.

Assault Charges Filed in County

Richard McCue, 22, LaMonte, was arrested at his home Thursday morning by Pettis County sheriff's officers and charged in Magistrate Court with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

The charge stems from a reported incident June 5 in which McCue allegedly struck and kicked Opal Gilmore, 44, Tipton, at a parking lot at Third and Lamine.

The fight reportedly occurred after an argument between the two men at the Chez When Cocktail Lounge, 121 East Third, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said.

Fairfax said Gilmore signed a complaint against McCue at the county prosecuting attorney's office after he was released from Bothwell Hospital for injuries he allegedly suffered in connection with the incident. Fairfax said Gilmore reportedly lost vision in one of his eyes.

McCue remains in the Pettis County jail in lieu of $1,500 bond.

County Roads Under Study By Satterlee

The Missouri State Highway Commission is now studying the county's recommendations of roads to be added to the state highway system, Eastern District Judge E. L. Birdsong said Thursday.

In a letter to the county court, George Satterlee, District 4 engineer with the Kansas City office of the highway department, told the court, "We are presently studying these roads and making the necessary cost estimate" to determine which roads will be included in the state supplementary highway system.

Three Pettis County representatives on the State Highway Commission Friday compiled a priority list of five county roads which should be turned over to the state for maintenance. The expansion of the state road system is part of a 10-year

The state highway department will make the final determination of which county roads will be added to the system. One of the factors will be the cost to rebuild county roads according to state specifications and the availability of rightsof-way from landowners.

Heavy Bomber Raids Over Cambodia

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP) - As U.S. bombers launched heavy attacks around Phnom Penh today, the Cambodian government said its troops were battling to reopen two more highways leading from the capital.

The latest fighting was reported 30 to 40 miles north of here along Highway 7, the way to the isolated provincial capitals of Kompong Thom and Kompong Cham, and along Highway 5, to the rice growing Province of Battambang. Both roads have been cut almost a week.

The steady rumble of bombs was heard in Phnom Penh as heavy U.S. air attacks continued around the clock against Communist troops ringing the city.

More than 300 trucks and trailers carrying rice and other badly needed commodities arrived from the deep water port of Kompong Son on Wednesday after Highway 4 linking the capital with the port was cleared the day before.

The road had been closed for nearly two leader Leonid I. Brezhnev has made clear in his summit talks with President Nixon that the Soviet Union wants more trade with the United States.

Brezhnev is pitching hard and thinking big, but the pitching is aimed not so much at Nixon, who evidently doesn't have to be convinced, or at American businessmen. who can smell a good deal cooking.

It is directed at Congress, where a majority of antiCommunist hard-liners and members sympathetic to Jews and other Soviet minorities insist on complete freedom of emigration before granting Moscow trade concessions.

Brezhnev concentrated his politicking on the 22 senators who lunched with him at Blair House Tuesday, claiming some 95 per cent of the Jews who want to leave can do And even while he was talking nuclear

Kelley Back Home After Questioning

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Clarence M Kelley, President Nixon's choice as permanent director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, returned to his home, family and police chief's job Wednesday night, offering little more than a grin and handshake to a smattering of admirers at the airport.

For the past two days, Kelley, 61, has undergone grueling questioning by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Brushing aside all questions on his testimony and the hearings. Kelley said only that he was "glad to be back in Kansas

Nixon Made Aware Of Bugging System

WASHINGTON (AP) - The late FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover once told President Nixon that electronic surveillance had been used against Nixon in the 1968 presidential campaign, John W. Dean III has quoted the President as Nixon is said to have replied he would have to use bugging to his own advantage sometime in the future.

That exchange is reported in an official summary of Dean's closed-door testimony before the Senate Watergate committee last Saturday.

The summary gives few details. Sources close to the investigation said Wednesday the conversation was not pursued at the executive session and the fired White House counsel indicated he would explain it further at the committee's televised hearings next week

The White House has refused to comment on Dean's testimony until after he appears "in public under oath."

The summary gave this account of a meeting between Nixon. Dean and former presidential Chief of Staff H.R. Haldeman last Sept. 15, the day a federal grand jury returned indictments against seven men in the Watergate break-in and bugging case:

"Dean met with the President after the indictments had been handed down. Nixon

Registration Effort Gains 1,600 Names

About 1,600 of the approximately 6,000 county voters who do not live in Sedalia have registered to vote, Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson, Pettis County clerk, said Thursday.

Mrs. Wilson said about 1,200 persons registered at the courthouse and the others were recently registered during voter registration drives in Smithton, Green Ridge and LaMonte.

County-wide voter registration was approved by voters in last November's general election. Persons living in Sedalia presently are required to register before they can vote. Every other voter in the county now must register to vote before the 1974 August primary elections, Mrs. Wilson said.

The county clerk said that her voter registration campaign will go to Hughesville and Houstonia next week. The exact days have not been determined, she

Mrs. Wilson said she will open her office on Saturdays in the future to give persons who are unable to go to the courthouse on weekdays a chance to register to vote.

County clerk's employes also will visit each of 16 county precincts later this year to facilitate county-wide voter registration, she said.

Items Worth $1,500 Reported Stolen

Land Use Planning Bill Survives Test

WASHINGTON (AP) - A national land use planning bill survived a crucial test today when the Senate rejected a move to strike a section designed to protect areas of critical environmental concern.

The Senate voted 63 to 20 against an amendment proposed by three Republicans which would have redefined areas of critical concern and eliminated a requirement that certain areas be considered for preservation.

The Senate was working toward final action on the bill to provide over $1 billion in grants to states and Indian tribes for land use planning.

Police Probe Report Of Abduction

Two Sedalia men were taken into custody by Sedalia police early Thursday morning for investigation of felonious assault in connection with an incident earlier in the morning in which a young Sedalia woman was reportedly abducted at gunpoint from her home.

Held in the city jail in the alleged abduction of Karen Trammell, 805 North Missouri, no age available, were Robert A. Marshall, 18, 418 West Saline, and Charles N. Taylor Jr., 24, 345 West Saline. Taylor was later released.

According to police reports, Marshall and Taylor allegedly forced the Trammell woman to accompany them to a clump of bushes and undergrowth at an undisclosed location at 3 a.m. Thursday. They reportedly fled a short time later after several cars passed near the area.

Marshall and Taylor were taken into custody at about 5 a.m. Thursday and were placed in the city jail. Marshall was still being held at 1 p.m.

Police said the Trammell woman was not harmed or sexually molested in the

Peron Under Guard After Violent Day

BUENOS AIRES, Argentina (AP) -Argentine strongman Juan D. Peron spent his first night home from exile under tight security after gunfire left 13 persons dead by official count and more than 250 wounded in a huge welcoming crowd. Peron and his third wife. Isabel, were at the official presidential residence in suburban Olivos. Security measures there were stricter than those around his chalet in another neighborhood. The former dictator planned to hold a news conference tonight.

The violence erupted Wednesday night and gunfire crackled through a throng of two million gathered near Buenos Aires airport to greet the 77-year-old leader.

Local newspapers, after checking hospitals, put the death toll between 20 and 30 and the number of wounded around 400. Rival Peronist factions and antigovernment snipers were blamed for the hail of bullets that turned the joyful welcoming ceremony into a scene of The violence forced the chartered jetliner bringing Peron from Spain, where he had lived since his ouster from power 18

Mayors Don't Swing Over To Nixon View

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — The Nixon administration has failed to win big city mayors to its version of special revenue sharing for community programs.

Despite the lobbying efforts of about 35 federal officials and speeches by U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary James T. Lynn and Domestic Council Director Ken Cole, the U.S. Conference of Mayors voted to seek changes in the Nixon proposal.

The action came on Wednesday as the conference ended its annual meeting. It represents cities of more than 30,000 population.

The mayors voted within two hours after

Cole told them, "We're going to need you when the Congress really faces up to the crunch with special revenue sharing.' Last year, the mayors were crucial in persuading Congress to enact Nixon's billion. The special revenue sharing would replace seven existing community development programs, including urban renewal and Model Cities, under which the federal government has set the goals and reviewed each project application.

Under special revenue sharing, the cities automatically would get money on the basis of population, poverty and overcrowding in housing. The government would not set goals and would not review projects.

This kind of freedom from federal controls and red tape has been a goal of the mayors for many years, but they want the federal government to retain a statement of goals and a very simplified federal review procedure.

several miles from the airport. After his arrival, Peron canceled his appearance before the vast crowd. But he spoke on television and radio during the night to express his sorrow at the clashes.

Education, Health Programs Funded

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Appropriations Committee today approved funds for a wide variety of health and education programs President Nixon wants to cut back or abolish.

It sent to the House floor a bill that would provide $32.8 billion to run the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The total is $1.2 billion over Nixon's budget.

Among the programs marked for extinction by the administration that the bill would revive is the Office of Economic Opportunity's community action program, which supports 977 local antipoverty agencies.

Also ordered continued were programs for training health and research personnel, building and staffing hospitals and mental health centers, and providing library Besides ignoring most of Nixon's budget requests, the committee rejected his proposals to refashion a number of education and manpower programs into special revenue-sharing measures. The bill, which will be acted on by the House next week, would appear headed for the same fate that last year's bill met-a presidential veto.

Congress never did enact a Labor-HEW appropriations bill for fiscal 1973, deciding to let the departments operate under a special emergency funding procedure after Nixon vetoed two bills it sent him.

Road Work Is Set In Saline County

(Democrat-Capital Service)

JEFFERSON CITY - The State Highway Commission will open bids Friday for 12 road projects, including three in Saline County, and are expected to cost about $26 million.

Two of the projects are on Highway 240 near Marshall. The projects on this highway include grading and construction of bridges, culverts and construction of a 24foot concrete pavement on 2.7 miles from Highway 65 east to the east city limits of Marshall; and similar improvements and asphaltic concrete resurfacing on part of 3 miles of road from the east city limits of Marshall to Highway 41.

The other project includes grading and construction of culverts and a 24-foot concrete pavement on Route O, a half-mile from Highway 240 to Porter Street in Marshall.

Earl Stoddard, bottom right, is every woman's dream of a husband, and that's according to his wife, also pictured, who sips coffee as he washes dishes.

For Working Wives

Househusband Solves Dilemma

By JO WERNE Herald Staff Writer

MIAMI (AP) - When Bart Rhoades accompanied his wife to a Presbyterian ministers' convention last year, she met with the ministers and he met with the wives. When he heard the wives complain about getting along on a minister's salary, the boredom of housework and the problem of not seeing enough of their mates. Rhoades could honestly say, "I know what you mean.

Rhoades, 74, is married to Dr. Jacqueline Rhoades, a minister at New Covenant Presbyterian Church. While she pursues her career in the church, her husband, retired for the last decade, stays home and runs the house.

"I'm a 'femme de menage.' " says the good-natured Rhoades. In plain English, he's a 'househusband.'

The tall, silver-haired Rhoades isn't alone. There seems to be a trend of sorts for retired men to keep house while their wives continue working.

Earl Stoddard and Clyde Wilson are two other Miamians who take the housekeeping load off their working wives' shoul-

Stoddard retired four years ago at 62 after 20 years in the customer service department of a Canton, Ohio, store. Now he tidies up the kitchen, does the heavy cleaning and major re-decorating tasks while his wife Helen sells shoes in a Coral Gables shop.

Wilson, 52, retired earlier than he'd planned. The industrial education department at the University of Miami where the ex-Marine had been an instructor for 11 years was phased

A paraplegic as a result of polio, Wilson stays home while his wife Ruth works as a medical technician in a pediatrician's office.

Each man approaches housework in a different way. Rhoades is the organized one, perhaps because one of his jobs for the New York Transit Authority during a 45-year-career was making train schedules. He follows a daily routine.

Stoddard, however, does a job "when I feel like it," while Wilson happily attacks a major chore, such as cleaning out the garage, while ignoring piddling household jobs. The one who benefits most from Rhoades' housekeeping schedule is, of course, Dr. Rhoades. He has breakfast prepared for her every morning.

"I usually cook something simple — coffee, soft boiled eggs and toast," says Rhoades.
"And I can make marvelous flapjacks.

After Jackie leaves for work I clean up the dishes, make the beds, then go shopping. Yes, I shop every day, but it's not an easy thing these days. Food's so expensive and you can't get things in small enough quantities," he said, echoing the words of many a housewife.

When the shopping's finished and groceries are put away, it's time for lunch. Dr. Rhoades rarely gets away from the church during the day, so her husband has a sandwich alone. During the afternoon, Rhoades will tackle a cleaning job - "if the mood hits me."

The couple has an eight-room house which includes "his" and 'hers' offices and hundreds of books. Dusting all those books is a task Rhoades avoids. "Dust doesn't bother me." he

Over in Coral Gables at the Stoddard residence, Stoddard talks about his system of keeping house. "I do one job for a while and when I get bored I move on to another one.

"But sometimes I think I put in more hours now than when I was working," he says.

"I say to him, 'There's tomorrow; you don't have to do it all in one day," says Mrs. Stoddard, who claims she doesn't remember the last time she scrubbed a floor.

She still does most of the cooking and the laundry, while Stoddard does heavy cleaning. They have always shared housework during their 41 years of marriage.

Housework has been more than weekly cleaning for the couple this past year, however. They bought a 50-year-old house which they have been remodeling. Stoddard panels walls and installs ceilings while Mrs. Stoddard assists with the

Tentative Starting Date Is Set Here for New Transportation Plan

By JACK SCHICHT Democrat-Capital Staff Writer

The Older Adults Transportation Service (OATS) program hopefully will be in operation in Pettis County by July 16. Peter Showers, state OATS representative from Columbia, said Wednesday.

About 20 elderly or handicapped residents, along with the county OATS committee, attended a public meeting Wednesday afternoon at the Farm and Home Building

Showers said that two 14passenger OATS buses will be based in Johnson, Pettis and Lafavette Counties. However, Showers added, OATS members may ride on any of the 29 OATS buses in the 52 participating counties in the state.

It also was announced at the meeting that OATS membership and stock certificates will go on sale soon said persons 55 years-old or older, or handicapped persons, may purchase the certificates July 2 and 3 at the Missouri Public Service Co., 400 South Ohio. Franklin emphasized that at the present time OATS membership or stock certificates will not be sold doorto-door, to insure against fraud.

The cost of the annual membership fee is $5 and the lifetime stock share is $1. The stock enables the participant to be a voting member in the OATS cooperative. The service is owned by the shareholders and administered by a board of OATS certificates also will be on sale at the Green Ridge City Hall from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. each Monday, and at the home of Mrs. Frankie Phillips, Hughesville.

Franklin said as soon as local drivers for the program are hired, OATS members will be given telephone numbers to call so they can schedule trips on OATS buses. The bus drivers Carl Franklin, chairman of would perform the bulk of the the Pettis County committee, scheduling, Showers added.

He also explained the fees involved with the system. First. he said, in order to ride an OATS bus, persons must buy both the $1 stock certificate and $5 annual membership fee.

All non-excursion trips from city to city cost each OATS member 41/2-cents per mile, both ways. Trips within a city cost 50 cents each way and 30 cents for each extra stop. Excursion tours of 10 persons or more would cost each member 3.5 cents multiplied by 1.25 and the total mileage.

Showers said that once the OATS program gets rolling in the Pettis County area, every person who is enrolled in the program will be "served or have the possibility to use the buses about every other week."

In response to a question. Showers emphasized that OATS buses are not similar to a taxicab service. "People will have to make trips on the buses on a scheduled basis." he said. Showers said that once the program establishes local contacts, persons should first find out what days the buses be traveling to one particular city and then make their appointments. Showers added, "Most doctors have cooperated very well with the OATS program so far." He added that 60 per cent of OATS trips are to medical facilities.

Another person asked if it would be possible to establish te schedules. Showers d that fixed schedules develop and "usually out the best." Under a chedule, persons living in nte, for instance, would know that the bus would be in their community on certain days each month.

"The main purpose is to keep the ball rolling and utilize the buses at all times." Showers said. He explained that often a bus will travel to a shopping center in one city from another city and then be used as an intracity transportation vehicle by other OATS members while the original riders are shopping.

When asked about facilities for the handicapped, Showers said the buses do not have facilities for wheelchair patients yet. He added that the buses are fully insured and have first aid kits and fire extinguishers.

Franklin said that the local answering service for the OATS program here may be located at the Municipal Building

He also emphasized that persons should pay for the membership and stock certificates with a check or money order. The payments must be forwarded to the OATS central office in Columbia and it is preferrable that the payments not be in cash, he

The OATS program is rapidly expanding, Showers said, and is a door-to-door service that also

Death Averted In Rescue

KANSAS CITY (AP) - A passerby and two highway patrol troopers saved a man from almost certain death Wednesday when they pulled him from the burning wreckage of his pickup on Interstate 35 in suburban Pleasant Valley, Mo., Leonard Hollis, a 49-year-old salesman from Bolivar, Mo., said he was two cars behind the pickup of Selva Jacobs, 33. Kansas City, when a tire blew out on the Jacobs vehicle.

The truck crashed into a concrete pillar and burst into flames.

"The whole cab was burning inside," Hollis said. "I got a fire extinguisher from my car and thought I had put out the fire twice, but it flared up again each time.'

Hollis said he kept trying to force open the door of the truck's cab, but it was buckled and wedged and wouldn't

Jacobs was conscious during the rescue attempt, screaming. 'Oh, God, get me out of here.'

Hollis said. Authorities said Jacobs probably would have burned to death if Hollis hadn't partly extinguished the fire twice and pulled him halfway out of the cab before the troopers arrived.

diabetes, and even when I stick carbohydrates in your diet. An to my diet I have a hard time animal with no pancreas that's keeping it down. I take two shots of insulin for a total of 60 units a day. I test my urine every day. I am overweight and 52 years old. What do you recommend I do to get my blood sugar down? Even when it is high, I don't feel too bad, but sometimes I do feel sluggish. Dear Reader - If a person has sufficiently severe diabetes to require insulin therapy, the amount of insulin has to be regulated in relationship to the diet that's eaten. If you don't stay on your diet, the insulin dosage may either be too little or too much. People with untreated diabetes often feel sluggish because they don't have enough energy in the cells to carry out normal cell function. This happens because the glucose sugar used for cell energy requires insulin to be metabolized, that is, converted to carbon dioxide and oxygen to release energy. When the insulin is not effective or when there is not enough insulin in the body, the glucose sugar in the blood can't be utilized and its level increases to large

Dear Dr. Lamb — I have a

The high blood sugar isn't what makes you tired. It's the inability to provide energy to the cells. Because sugar can't be utilized in severe untreated diabetes, these individuals use fat and proteins for metabolism. The end products. particularly of the fat, are ketone bodies or acetone bodies which are strong acids. The excess accumulation of these leads to diabetes acidosis and Lower Blood Sugar Blood sugar is also formed hard time in bringing my blood from the proteins in the body, if sugar down. I have sugar you don't have any fed only fat and protein will maintain a high blood sugar level. This is done by converting the proteins to glucose sugar. Even the body proteins from muscles can be converted to glucose sugar in this way. Of course, the glucose sugar can't be used by the cells if there is no insulin, and as the blood sugar goes up this causes sugar in the urine. One of the functions of your insulin then is to enable the cells to use normally produced glucose sugar and give you energy. This in turn combats the "sluggish feeling" or fatigue that diabetics experience.

> Diabetic specialists have different opinions on how well controlled the blood sugar level should be. Certainly the diabetes should be controlled well enough that the body doesn't have to depend on fat and protein for energy alone and cause acidosis or other problems.

Often an overweight diabetic needs less insulin once they've eliminated their excess obesity. If you are able to stay on a good diet that gradually eliminates your excess fat this might help you, but I think you should let your doctor worry about what your blood sugar level should be, and that your main effort should be to stick to the diet that he recommends for the amount of insulin he is giving you. If you don't do this, you're not going to get the maximum advantage of his help, and in fact could run into difficulties.

SMITHTON — Four small rooms, a boarded up front window, four feet of water in the basement and a truckload of brush in the backyard didn't look too promising.

The Smithton community center is hardly recognizable by that description anymore. Several volunteered hours by local carpenters have removed the unfeasible partitions and made a single club room large enough for a group to meet. The scrap lumber was hauled away. front window replaced, grass cut and the brush removed. Hours of voluntary "elbow grease" and gallons of soapy water cleaned it. Several cans of paint finished the work necessary to open the center.

One foot of water remains in the basement, a furnace needs to be purchased before winter and a bathroom will be added before the center is completed, but for the summer it is open.

"Now there will be someplace where a group can get together just to talk," said Mrs. Ralph Thomas, Route 2, publicity chairman. "Prior to this there wasn't even a place where teens could get a coke after five." According to Mrs. Thomas, parents had to wait in their cars when picking up children after ballgames for lack of a meeting place.

Harvest Amid Confusion

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The 1973 wheat harvest is moving into full swing in southern Kansas amid reports of shortages of fuel, transportation, storage and manpower. Dramatically fluctuating prices are adding to the confusion.

The Kansas Harvest Labor Control office at Great Bend said Tuesday it had orders for more than 174 combines, and the list was growing. Orders had come from Coldwater, Caldwell, Kiowa, Ashland, Wellington, Meade and Liberal.

Many points reported that elevators are choked with grain, and no box cars are available, even before the harvest begins.

Despite the worsening problems, however, there appears to be an improved outlook for box cars and elevator space in some ar as where cutting will begin next week.

Harvey Gerald, an official of the Kansas Grain Inspection Department at Hutchinson, said a first sampling of the moisture content of the grain across southern Kansas revealed a protein count of 9.50 to 10.50.

A measure of between 12 and 13 is considered good.

In Sumner County, Russell Teeter, whose Skelly service station has been a major supplier of fuel to combine crews for years in the area, said he will run out of gasoline Wednesday and can get no more until July.

Teeter said he doesn't know where his customers will get gasoline after he closes Other station owners in the area have already told him they cannot handle extra customers, he said.

'When we can't get it from the stations, we'll try to get it from the farmers," he said.

At this point, it is difficult to assess just how severe the transportation problem will become in the over-all Kansas harvest

A spokesman for the Santa Fe Railway Co., in Topeka said Tuesday, "we think we can get through the wheat harvest without serious car shortages." But he added there almost certainly will be temporary shortages at some locations occasionally.

"You just can't have cars at just the right places all the time.

He said Santa Fe has already gotten delivery on 1,000 new 100-ton hopper cars ordered last August, and that delivery has begun on an additional 1,000 ordered in February, now arriving at a rate of about 25

Bud Garber, manager of the Arlington Coop Exchange at Eleanor, said fuel and combine shortages hadn't reached Reno County as of Tuesday, but that elevators were strained by a lack of rail cars.

He said the elevator had loaded a Rock Island car with grain on June 5, and it was still sitting at the elevator waiting for a train to haul it away.

A Joplin festival beyond idea stage

becoming a reality.

Following Tuesday's report of the festival steering committee, set up by the Chamber of Commerce board April 17, the board decided to commit itself to the festival and appropriated some money to get the ball rolling. An official board has now been formed to begin actual planning for the event, scheduled for July of 1974.

The most encouraging news so far is the willingness — if not the eagerness — of several top ragtime artists to come to Sedalia and perform. Initial indications are that they will do so for a nominal fee, being rewarded by the pleasure of playing in Sedalia, where ragtime blossomed and broke forth around the turn of the century.

Rudi Blesh, the leading historian of ragtime, has expressed a keen interest in Sedalia's plans. In Festival in Sedalia.

> The possibilities are endless for making the Sedalia Ragtime Festival an event of national significance. The festival board will be open to suggestions from interested citizens.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Chamber board, a working figure of $17,000 was arrived at for staging the first festival. But the potential for MAKING money on the festival will be equally as important a consideration.

The festival committee hopes to raise as much as half of the $17,000 locally. This will require active financial participation from individuals, civic clubs and other organizations. It is something to start thinking about now - only a little over a year away from the First Annual Scott Joplin Ragtime

The act of disobedience should be the last resort, not the first. Lawful remedies must be patiently explored; the mechanisms provided by society for the redress of grievances must be given a fair chance to work.

To borrow from Mr. Jefferson, the act cannot be motivated by "light or transient causes." Whether the purpose is American independence, or Southern independence, or an end to segregation on the buses of Birmingham, the cause cannot be petty, or trivial, or merely personal.

The unlawful act must bear some relationship, directly or symbolically, to the grievance complained of. Pouring blood on draft records made a certain symbolic sense; trashing the streets of Georgetown, in the name of peace in

"What's the trouble, sir?" I asked.

"I never thought I'd see the day when the hammer and sickle would be flying from the Executive Office Building next to the White House.

"You don't understand, old man. Nixon IS the President and he's the one who is entertaining Leonid Brezhnev.

"It couldn't be the same Nixon," the old man said adamantly. "The Nixon I knew sent Alger Hiss to jail for playing footsie with the Communists. In every political campaign he warned of the Red menace. He fought the Communists while everyone was being duped by them. Nixon would never entertain one in his home.

"Indochina?"

"Yes, we've been fighting a war in Indochina for 10 years to keep the North Vietnamese Communists from spreading their insidious ideology over the globe. The President is committed to keeping them from achieving their goals.'

Illie Nastase Becomes Overwhelming Favorite

LONDON (AP) — Even when Wimbledon is being boycotted, it's an ill wind that blows nobody any good.

Illie Nastase of Romania suddenly has become an overwhelming favorite to win the world's most coveted tennis title. And a bunch of players who were rated outsiders a week ago could be listed among the seeded places.

Sedalia Moose pitchers Archie Shireman and Bob Sevier yielded only three hits to Jamestown in doubleheader men's softball action at Housel Park Wednesday night, as Moose walked away with 8-4 and 10-0 wins Sevier pitched a no-hitter in the 10-0 nightcap win; he recorded 13 of the 15 outs via strike outs.

Shireman opened the evening by hurling a three-hitter. Ernie Dow homered in both games for Moose: Wendell Brandes also homored for Moose in the nightcap.
The doubleheader sweep runs

Moose's record to 10-5.

Sunday Moose will host Whiteman Air Force Base in a twinbill at Housel Park. The opening game is scheduled to get underway at 7:30 p.m.

Ill., Alexander Metreveli of Russia, even 17-year-old Swedish teen-ager Bjorn Borg could be among the top seeds when the postponed draw is made Friday.

Plans for Wimbledon, which starts Monday, were wrecked when the militant Association of Tennis Professionals called on its members to walk out in sympathy with Nikki Pilic, the suspended Yugoslavian. More than 30 men had joined the walkout Wednesday night and the number is expected to Nastase is a member of ATP and had pledged to join in the boycott if Pilic was not allowed to play. But the Romanian National Tennis Association telephoned Nastase Wednesday and gave him orders.

"I shall play," he said. Connors, a surprise quarterfinalist at Wimbledon last year, is not a member of ATP.

"It looks like a big chance for me," Connors said as he strolled around Queen's Club with his constant companion,

Boccabella Leads 13-Hit Flurry

ST. LOUIS (AP) - "Sometimes I feel like I can hit anything," said John Boccabella. 'Sometimes I feel like I can hit

The lean Montreal Expos catcher had the feeling for hitting Wednesday night, a home run and single.

Boccabella's single preceded the home run, which came with two aboard in the third inning of the Expos' 5-1 triumph over St. Louis.

Not only was the homer his first of the season but the hits pushed his season's total to 48, his high for parts of 11 seasons in the majors.

This is the first real regular job he's had," said Expos Manager Gene Mauch, who labeled the 6-foot-1, 190-pound Boccabella underrated.

"There's nothing consistent about my hitting," conceded Boccabella, however. "I'm just trying to relax and playing every day helps. If you get in a slump you can work yourself

The Expos, collecting 13 hits, took a 1-0 lead on two walks, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly before kayoing Cards righthander Alan Foster, 4-5, with a four-run third.

Foster retired Boots Day and Ron Fairly leading off but was nicked for a Ken Singleton single and struggled for control while walking Mike Jorgensen.

Bob Bailey's hit up the middle scored Singleton to make it 2-0, then Boccabella drove a high Foster curve over the wall in left-center field. "Not too many times do you score four runs with two outs and nobody on," observed Mauch, who watched his team win a ninth time in 12 games.

Ernie McAnally, 5-1, checked the Cards on three singles until Tim McCarver and Ted Simmons led off the seventh with hits and McCarver scored on Luis Melendez' infield out. Durable Mike Marshall came on with a 3-0 count on pinchhitter Bill Stein and finished as he had a night earlier in relief of Steve Renko for his 10th

"We're facing real humidity now for the first time this year," said Mauch. "It affected Renko last night, and it affected Ernie tonight. Boccabella, whose home run

Despite Modifications Mosley Runs 185-Plus

MOUNT POCONO, Pa. (AP) Gordon Johncock has had almost one month to savor his victory in the Indianapolis 500mile race, but he still can't get excited about it.

"That Indianapolis thing, it really didn't seem like a 500-utive driver. "With everybody getting hurt and all the bad weather, nobody could be really happy. It was just a bad deal all the way around.

Johncock had his STP Eagle-Offy in front when the Indy race was called at 332.5 miles because of rain.

Johncock, a journeyman driver for many years, made only about 10 practice runs Wednesday while other drivers began shaking their cars down for qualifying runs that start Saturday at the Pocono International

Meanwhile, 26-year-old Mike Mosley recorded a practice lap at 185.6 miles per hour despite new rule modifications that cut the wing width on the Indy-type cars from 64 inches to 55 inches and reduced on-board fuel capacity to 40 gallons from the 75 gallons that prevailed at Indianapolis.

In Saturday's first round of qualifying, the pole position will go to the day's fastest driver.

knew I had him after three laps," exulted Dave Wottle, victor over Steve Prefontaine Wednesday night in a sizzling mile clocked at 3:53.3.

Another Olympic gold medal winner, Rod Milburn, equaled his own world record in the 120yard high hurdles at 13.0 seconds. No one was within 10 yards at the finish.

How fast could he have gone? "I know it would have been under 13.0." said Milburn, the NCAA champion from Southern University.

The performances of Wottle and Milburn were the highlights in a nearly impromptu track and field meet attended by 12,000 delighted fans. The meet was pulled together during the past three weeks to

Florida Sets Hot Pace In NCAA Golf Tourney

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP) -Gary Koch of Florida fired a 3under-par 67 to share individual honors with two charging golfers from host Oklahoma State as the Gators took a 1stroke lead over the Cowboys after the first round of the N.C.A.A. Golf Championships Wednesday.

Florida and Oklahoma State set a torrid pace for the rest of the field. Koch's 67 was. matched by the Cowboy's Danny Edwards and Henry DeLozier. Andy Bean had a 68 to give Florida its 1-stroke lead with a low team total of 275.

Oklahoma State had a 276 by virtue of two spectacular shots by Edwards and DeLozier on the last shots of their rounds.

Houston, runner-up to Texas in the last two tournaments, was third with an even par, 280, followed by the Longhorns at 284, Georgia Southern and New Mexico at 285, and Southern Cal The much talked about prevailing strong southwesterly Oklahoma winds didn't prevail, accounting for an unusual number of sub-par rounds on the tricky, 6,534-yard par 70 Stillwater Golf and Country Club course.

Despite his 3-under-par effort, Koch said he did not play particularly well. "I didn't hit it real good. It was a so-so round, but it came out all right. It could have been worse," he

Overcall Cues Grand Slam

Sir Kay was the one cowardly knight of the Round Table. He was also a coward at the bridge table. He thought his jump to four clubs was a tremendous overbid and might keep Lancelot from getting to the right contract.

A more enterprising and valiant knight would have jumped to six clubs and probably kept Lancelot out of the grand slam. All the four-club bid did was tell the peerless knight and bridge player how to go about the business of making the grand slam.

Lancelot ruffed the club lead and drew trumps. He noticed that Kay followed to three leads. He also knew that Kay held a lot of clubs for his preempt. Hence, if anyone held all four dia-monds it would be the unfortunate Sir Palamides sitting East

... I'LL START GETTING THE NECESSARY

DATA TO-GETHER ...

SIDE GLANCES

Just to make sure Lancelot cashed his ace of spades. Kay followed to that also and now Lancelot was ready for the diamonds. He led a diamond to dummy's ace. Kay showed out and it was a simple matter to lead the 10 of diamonds, overtake East's jack, go back to dummy with the queen of spades and finesse against East's nine to make the grand slam.

Lancelot might have played diamonds that same way if Kay had not bid at all. After the four-club bid the play was just about a cinch.

on the 10th anniversary of his election to the Throne of Peter.

The Pope had a full schedule for the day, including a Corpus Christi feast day visit to a suburban parish.

Otherwise it was considered a routine day in the Vatican.

The church will mark next week's anniversary of the pontiff's coronation with solemn celebrations.

Despite Thursday's low tone, the Pope chose the eve of the anniversary to reaffirm the cornerstones of his pontificate and spell out once again his firm stand on faith and morals.

A booklet issued by the Pope's office outlining the responsibilities and the role of Roman Catholic bishops also stressed his concern about defections from the church.

The publication, released by the Congregation for Bishops after the Pope's approval, called for bishops to "agree with the Roman Catholic pontiff" in all matters of faith and morals.

There has been growing unrest in the clergy on moral and theological issues, and the number of defections from the Catholic church has increased.

The publication reaffirmed chastity and poverty for bishops. It said they must adhere "with religious obsequiousness to the ordinary teaching of the Pope" and called for an end to public discussion of church problems.

Washington Displays A New Air

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
AP Political Writer
WASHINGTON (AP) — In

politics, the small things often tell the story. This was espe-cially true when Melvin Laird displayed the new, deferential manner the White House is seeking to convey in the wake of the Watergate controversy.

Laird went up to the Senate Tuesday for his first meeting with Republican senators since he succeeded the often brusque John Ehrlichman as President Nixon's top domestic policy

As the closed luncheon broke up and Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., headed for the Senate Press Gallery to brief newsmen, other reporters clustered around Laird, having been told he might have something inter-

But the old pro from Wisconsin just smiled and, after acknowledging the purpose of his visit was to improve relations between the White House and the Senate, suggested the reporters talk to Sen. Tower.

"I learned a long time ago."

"I learned a long time ago," said the former Wisconsin congressman and secretary of defense, "to let a senator be in the limelight if he wants to."

Republican senators emerging from the meeting said it had been a good session. Tower, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee which hosts the weekly luncheons, reported the 'mood was good."

"In recent days," the Texas senator noted, "relationships between the White House and the Republican leaders in Congress have improved and will continue to do so."

In addition, Tower said, "I believe there will be efforts by the White House team to improve relations with the Democrats."

Tower noted that GOP Leader Hugh Scott and his House counterpart, Rep. Gerald Ford, have been invited to sit in on Cabinet meetings, and added that Laird told the senators he would be happy to come and meet with them again.

Angry Patient Has Revenge on Doctor

DUBLIN, Ga. (AP) - Police say 22-year-old Ralph Wadley of Soperton got mad at his dentist and hit him with a pistol after the dentist told him a loose tooth required no treat-

Dr. A. J. Bowen, a dentist with offices here, said Wadley came to his office complaining of a loose tooth but that an examination showed nothing wrong.

Bowen said he met Wadley later in the parking lot and the patient hit him with his fists

President Nixon and Soviet Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev raised their champagne glasses in toasts to success at the ceremony in the White House East

The agreement, the outstanding accomplishment of their week-long summit, was forged by Nixon and Brezhnev earlier at Camp David, the presidential retreat in the mountains of Maryland. It is designed to spur negotiators for the two countries at the recessed strategic arms limitation talks (SALT) in Geneva.

For the first time, the two nations committed themselves in principle to actual reductions of their nuclear weaponry as well as to permanent limitations. Also significantly, the United States evidently is bowing to Soviet objections to onsite inspections.

One of the seven stated principles provides that "national technical means" be the system of verifying whether Washington and Moscow were living up to a missile limitation.

Surveillance of multiple independently targeted warheads MIRVS evidently would be restricted mostly to observation by radar and spy satellite while in flight tests.

Henry A. Kissinger, the President's security adviser, briefing newsmen, said that "those MIRV agreements that are not verifiable by national technical means would be difficult to reconcile" with the objective of restricting complex nuclear offensive weapons.

The two nations agreed in another provision that efforts by one or the other to obtain a nuclear advantage would be inconsistent with the goal of strengthening

Explosion Destroys Smithton Home

A Smithton family miraculously escaped injury at 11 a.m. Thursday when their home was heavily damaged in an explosion.

Mrs. Carol Hardesty and her three children were all in the house when Mrs. Hardesty heard a "big explosion" and

'flames erupted along the walls," she said. Mrs. Hardesty told The Democrat-Capital that two of her children, Cathy, 12, and Jim, 11, were upstairs in their room, while the baby, Zachary, 3, was in the dining room. She said she was in the back bedroom when the explosion took place. Mrs. Hardesty's husband, Ed, was at work at the time of the explosion and was notified shortly after it happened.

Although the cause of the blast was not immediately known, Mrs. Hardesty reported that it occurred directly under the bedroom in which she was standing. She said there is a furnace in the basement directly below that room.

"I saw flames all along the walls," Mrs. Hardesty said, "and then it seemed like everything was falling in. I started screaming for them (the children) but they were already coming downstairs.'

The heat was so intense, according to Mrs. Hardesty, that it "took my breath away" and the children reported that the

Record Inflation Continues Pace

WASHINGTON (AP)-The sharpest inflation rate in 22 years continued its rapid pace in May as the buying power of American workers fell again, the government reported Thursday.

Th Labor Department said higher prices for food, clothing and gasoline pushed the cost of living up six-tenths of 1 per cent, a rate slightly less than the seven-tenths of 1 per cent recorded in A pril.

This works out to an annual rate of 7.2 per cent, down from the 8.4 per cent annual rate of increase projected in April. President Nixon's chief economics adviser, Herbert Stein, said the figures show inflation "subsiding from its earlier peak but still much too high and subsiding too slowly."

The bureau of Labor Statistics said aftertax take-home pay of rank-and-file workers averaged $125.12 in May, up 87 cents from April and $14.51 from a year ago. But it calculated that inflation reduced real spendable earnings of those workers fourtenths of 1 per cent in May-the fifth line in the past seven months.

Nixon's 60-day price freeze announced earlier this month is not expected to be reflected in price reports until midsum-

However, the May figures reflect the full impact of the ceiling imposed on meat prices March 29. From April to May, meat prices declined one-tenth of 1 per cent following huge jumps earlier this year.

May's Consumer Price Index for all items climbed from 130.7 to 131.5 and was 5.5 per cent above a year ago. For shoppers. this meant it cost $13.15 las: month to buy variety of goods and services that would have cost $10 in 1967.

Food again was a major culprit in the inflationary spiral, rising 1.1 per cent on a seasonal basis. But the increase was the smallest so far this year, compared with jumps of 1.4 per cent in April and 2.4 per cent in March.

Prices rose sharply for cereal and bakery products, most dairy items, fish, coffee and fresh vegetables. Egg prices declined, but at a rate less than usual in May.

been confirmed at presstime.

Astronauts Clean Up For Trip Home

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — Like vacationers closing a summer house, Skylab's astronauts cleaned up the space station Thursday and prepared to come home from a record 28-day mission.

Astronauts Charles Conrad Jr., Dr. Joseph P. Kerwin and Paul J. Weitz return to earth at 9:50 a.m. EDT Friday. Splashdown is in the Pacific Ocean, 830 miles southwest of Conrad, Kerwin and Weitz loaded film, tapes, biological samples and other equipment aboard the Apollo command ship, which is attached to one end of the space station.

The astronauts planned to a five-hour sleep Thursday, resting for the precise and difficult job of flying their spaceship to earth. They cast off from the space station aboard the Apollo command ship at 4:45 a.m. Friday. After spending an hour circling and photographing the orbiting laboratory, the astronauts will perform a series of rocket firings to slow their ferry ship and send it speeding out of orbit toward splashdown. The prime recovery ship, the USS Ticonderoga, was on station in the Pacific Ocean, awaiting the return of the astronauts. The ship's crew practiced the recovery operation using a simulated splashdown 41/2 miles from the carrier. The practice, from splash to spacecraft hatch opening, took 33 minutes. The astronauts reported they were in excellent health and

High Court Attacks Pornography

WASHINGTON (AP) - In an attack on "hard-core pornography," the Supreme Court Thursday wrote stringent new guidelines on the limits of sexual candor in books and movies.

Combating the trend toward greater sexual explicitness, the 5-4 decision gave local prosecutors a broader definition of what is obscene and therefore outside the protection of the First Amendment.

The high court abandoned its long-held test that to be obscene, sexual material must, among other things, be utterly without redeeming social value. And, the court ruled, local community standards on permissible candor should govern-not a national standard.

Critics of such an approach have claimed that it would reduce movie distributors and publishers to offering works that met the standard of the most prudish community in the nation.

For the first time since the court first grappled with the issue in 1957, "a majority of this court has agreed on concrete guidelines to isolate 'hard-core' pornography," proclaimed Chief Justice Warren E. Burger who wrote the majority opinion in five related obscenity cases.

The majority opinion prompted dissenting Justice William J. Brennan Jr. to declare that it is now "hard to see how state-ordered regimentation of our minds can ever be forestalled.

In other action, the court Thursday: -Held in a case from Denver that system-wide desegregation is required when school officials have caused racial separation in a substantial portion of the schools. The case hinged on the actions of school officials, since Colorado has never segregation in newspaper help-wanted ads.

Burger was joined in the majority obscenity decision by President Nixon's three other appointees to the court, Justices Harry Blackmun, Lewis F. Powell Jr., and William H. Rehnquist, and by veteran Justice Byron R. White.

The new guidelines written by the majority for determining what is obscene require juries to decide: "(a) Whether the average person applying contemporary community standards would find that the work, taken as a whole, appeals to the prurient interest; (b) Whether the work depicts or describes in a patently offensive way sexual conduct specifically defined by the applicable state law, and (c) Whether the work, taken as a whole, lacks serious literary, artistic, political or scientific

A Joplin festival beyond idea stage

Festival for Sedalia, little more than an idea two months ago, now becoming a reality.

Following Tuesday's report of the festival steering committee, set up by the Chamber of Commerce board April 17, the board decided to commit itself to the festival and appropriated some money to get the ball rolling. An official board has now been formed to begin actual planning for the event, scheduled for July of 1974.

The most encouraging news so far is the willingness — if not the eagerness — of several top ragtime artists to come to Sedalia and perform. Initial indications are that they will do so for a nominal fee, being rewarded by the pleasure of playing in Sedalia, where ragtime blossomed and broke forth around the turn of the century.

Rudi Blesh, the leading historian of ragtime, has expressed a keen interest in Sedalia's plans. In season begins June 1.

An annual Scott Joplin Ragtime correspondence with the steering committee, he even suggested that areas for street dancing be set aside appears to be well on the way to so that ragtime can fulfill its original purpose.

The possibilities are endless for making the Sedalia Ragtime Festival an event of national significance. The festival board will be open to suggestions from interested citizens.

At Tuesday's meeting of the Chamber board, a working figure of $17,000 was arrived at for staging the first festival. But the potential for MAKING money on the festival will be equally as important a consideration.

The festival committee hopes to raise as much as half of the $17,000 locally. This will require active financial participation from individuals, civic clubs and other organizations. It is something to start thinking about now - only a little over a year away from the First Annual Scott Joplin Ragtime Festival in Sedalia.

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON - When President Nixon was inveighing against hippies a couple of years ago, the White House quietly sent a private detective to rescue the President's nephew, Donald Nixon Jr., from a hippy commune.

The delicate mission was handled by the Ehrlichman, who dispatched Anthony Ulasewicz to find young Donald.

Ulasewicz is the former New York City detective who was paid out of a secret GOP account to do private investigating for the White House. He was paid $22,000 a year, plus expenses, from an account set up by the President's personal lawyer, Herbert Kalmbach.

Ulasewicz located the President's nephew hanging out with hippies in the California mountains. The burly former private eye persuaded Donald to trim his hair and return home.

Ehrlichman, thereafter, gave young Nixon a two-hour lecture, admonishing him to behave himself and do nothing to embarrass the President.

Donald wound up as an aide to the debonair, mustachioed financial finagler, Robert Vesco, who has been indicted by a federal grand jury along with two former cabinet members, Attorney General John Mitchell and Commerce Secretary Maurice

It is questionable whether Donald is now in better company than when he was associating with hippies federal job where critics fear he will juggle statistics to suit President Ninon's whims.

Footnote: Ulasewicz referred us to his attorney, John Sutter, who refused to comment on the incident.

The attack group was set up during the 1972 campaign under White House aide Charles Colson to fog over the Watergate scandal and to carry on a no-holds-barred attack on Sen. George McGovern.

It met daily at 9:15 a.m. in the White Magruder, the deputy campaign aide, with its skulduggery that he awarded its members cufflinks lettered "9:15."

Now, Colson has revealed in a still-secret deposition that one of the attack group's key members was Edward Failor, a key Nixon campaign aide hired by campaign director John Mitchell. Failor used to go almost daily to the attack group meetings at the White House to plot anti-McGovern

In the last few days, Failor has been rewarded for his hatchet work with a job as head of the Commerce Department's Social and Economics Statistics Administration. Along with his budget of $100 million, he will control some 7,000

More importantly, however, he will supervise the Census Bureau and other vital statistical units. Critics fear the White House may have put him there purposely so he can tamper with figures to make the Nixon economy look rosy.

Failor, in a long talk with us, denied he took part in any Watergate-style activities as a member of the attack group. As Failor explained it: "We only wanted to show the (Democrats) were doing bad things, also, so people would say, 'A plague on both your houses.'"

Footnote: Others Colson swore were in the attack group include White House speech writer Pat Buchanan, and White House, communications official King Clawson. Most of the group were White House aides, all on government pay at the time they plotted to undo McGovern.

Crop Duster: Once more, the government has put a rabbit in charge of the lettuce patch. This time it's almost iterally true: An insurance official who pent his life fighting federal crop surance has been slipped in to head the federal farm insurance agency.

The Federal Crop Insurance Corp. was set up in the dust bowl days to insure farmers against losses from dust, fire, hail and other disasters. Currently operating in the black, the little agency is a boon to farmers in more than 1,400 counties.

But the FCIA has been constantly harassed by two powerful insurance industry lobbies which go by the names National Crop Insurance Council and Hail Insurance Adjustment and Research

The founding father of the larger National Crop Insurance Council and an expresident of the hail insurance trade group is a hard-line fighter against federal farm insurance named Melvin Peterson, a former executive of the Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies.

We have copies of his virulent prose as far back as 1966 seeking destruction of some of the federal farm agency programs. In 1971, he was a leader in an effort to cripple the agency and turn the cream of its business over to private insurers.

Now, to the surprise of farmers, Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz has named the scourge of the federal crop insurance agency as its new boss. Peterson urged us to wait until he had gotten well into his job before we wrote about him and the agency. We declined on the grounds that if we waited, there might not be any agency to write about.

A conservative view

Thoughts on morality and the law

By JAMES J. KILPATRICK

FREDERICKSBURG, VA. - The Virginia State Bar met in this historic and lovely little city last week and I drove down from Scrabble to serve as a luncheon speaker. Fredericksburg figured in the American Revolution and 80-odd years later in the War for Southern Independence. Its old brick walks have known the boots of patriots and rebels (or, depending on your point of view, of rebels and of patriots) - boots of men who disobeyed the rule of law.

It occurred to me, driving down to Fredericks-The World Almanac notes. burg, to speak to the lawyers, who live A semipermanent list of by the law, on the ancient theme of dis-obedience to law. Can such disobedience four sets of names in alphabetical order was established in 1960. Hurricane

The threshold question is easily crossed. Of course there are circumstances when disobedience to law offers the only recourse against injustice or oppression. If our founding fathers had submitted tamely to the rule of law, the American Revolution would be remembered as the American rebellion, and the rebel Washington would have been hanged.

The right to overthrow oppressive government - more accurately, the right to attempt to overthrow — is at least as old as the House of Thebes. At lesser orders of magnitude, this same right to break the law regularly has been invoked by men and women of strong wills and stubborn heads. It is a long path but a straight one, from Antigone to Carrie Nation; the line runs from Socrates, who taught impieties in ancient Greece, to Scopes, who taught Darwinian theory in Tennessee.

Yet the path, on examination, is not all that clear. In our own time, one finds deserters, draft evaders, student demonstrators, and men who steal documents all along the way. If certain unlawful acts can be justified morally and my argument is that of course they can - what are these circumstances that might be tentatively put forward.

Half a dozen guidelines, it seems to me, permit extenuation?

The act of disobedience should be the last resort, not the first. Lawful remedies must be patiently explored; the mechanisms provided by society for the redress of grievances must be given a fair chance to work.

To borrow from Mr. Jefferson, the act cannot be motivated by "light or transient causes." Whether the purpose is American independence, or Southern independence, or an end to segregation on the buses of Birmingham, the cause cannot be petty, or trivial, or merely personal.

The unlawful act must bear some relationship, directly or symbolically, to the grievance complained of. Pouring blood on draft records made a certain symbolic sense; trashing the streets of Georgetown, in the name of peace in Vietnam, made no sense at all.

Those who elect deliberately to break the law should understand they have no right to break the law with impunity. They must accept the risk of punishment; and once brought to the bar, they must challenge the hated law head-on, without pettiloggery or others, that distinguishes Martin Luther King from Daniel Ellsberg. The act of disobedience should be open, not covert. One searches in vain to find moral justification for the draft dodger who goes underground, or for the evasion. It is this consideration, among anonymous peacenik who defaces public property and runs away. Finally, the act should inflict no pain, suffering, or serious hardship on innocent persons, not responsible for the grievance alleged. The bombing of public buildings would be a case in point. Mind you, I am not suggesting that any one of these considerations, or all of them together, add up to exculpation. Moral justification is one thing, legal justification quite another. Law must be enforced, as Creon told Antigone, "when it is right, and even when it's not." Men who elect to act beyond the rule of law may wind up in the pages of history as heroes, patriots and martyrs; but the preservation of order demands that most of them, like King, spend some time first in the Birmingham

Richard McCue, 22, LaMonte, was arrested at his home Thursday morning by Pettis County sheriff's officers and charged in Magistrate Court with felonious assault with intent to do great bodily harm.

The charge stems from a reported incident June 5 in which McCue allegedly struck and kicked Opal Gilmore, 44, Tipton, at a parking lot at Third and

The fight reportedly occurred after an argument between the two men at the Chez When Cocktail Lounge, 121 East Third, Pettis County Sheriff Emmett Fairfax said.

Fairfax said Gilmore signed a complaint against McCue at the county prosecuting attorney's office after he was released from Bothwell Hospital for injuries he allegedly suffered in connection with the incident. Fairfax said Gilmore reportedly lost vision in one of his eyes.

McCue was released Thursday on $1,500 bond. His trial date is scheduled for July

County Roads Under Study By Satterlee

The Missouri State Highway Commission is now studying the county's recommendations of roads to be added to the state highway system, Eastern District Judge E. L. Birdsong said Thursday.

In a letter to the county court, George Satterlee, District 4 engineer with the Kansas City office of the highway department, told the court, "We are presently studying these roads and making the necessary cost estimate" to determine which roads will be included in the state supplementary highway system.

Three Pettis County representatives on the State Highway Commission Friday compiled a priority list of five county roads which should be turned over to the state for maintenance. The expansion of the state road system is part of a 10-year

The state highway department will make the final determination of which county roads will be added to the system. One of the factors will be the cost to rebuild county roads according to state specifications and the availability of rightsof-way from landowners.

brass bannister on the stairs was "too hot to touch."

A neighbor, Mrs. Maxine Howard, heard the explosion and immediately contacted the Smithton volunteer fire department and an ambulance.

"Everyone was wonderful," said Mrs. Hardesty. "The fire department came right away and put the fire out quickly and everyone is doing all they can."

The force of the explosion caused the entire west wall of the home to collapse and left the interior a complete shambles. The refrigerator door was reportedly blown open and all the contents thrown out onto the floor.

The violence of the explosion caused walls to buckle and most of the windows were blown out. Only a small, lower portion of the front door remained. The yard was a shambles, littered with broken glass and household articles. The entire west wall leaned crookedly against the rest of the house

The Hardestys moved into the house, which belongs to B.D. Garrett, 724 West Fourth, Sedalia, last weekend. They formerly lived in Sedalia.

Saturday Paper Drive Announced

A paper drive, sponsored by the Sedalia branch of the American Association of University Women, will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at the open lot on the corner of Broadway and Kentucky.

According to Mrs. Rosalee Jordan, AAUW president, this drive will differ from those in the past in that papers and magazines only will be accepted on Saturday.

Persons are asked to bring papers in brown bags or to tie them in bundles with string. Those unable to take papers or magazines to the collection point should call 826-9300 or 826-4970 before noon Saturday.

Proceeds from the periodic paper collections have been placed in a savings account and total $1,244.64 to date. The money is to be used to furnish a room in the new wing of Bothwell Hospital, Mrs. Jordon indicated.

Brezhnev Says Russia Wants More U.S. Trade

CAMP DAVID, Md. (AP) — Communist of the advantages of developing trade and leader Leonid I. Brezhnev has made clear in his summit talks with President Nixon that the Soviet Union wants more trade with the United States.

Brezhnev is pitching hard and thinking big, but the pitching is aimed not so much at Nixon, who evidently doesn't have to be convinced, or at American businessmen. who can smell a good deal cooking.

It is directed at Congress, where a majority of antiCommunist hard-liners and members sympathetic to Jews and other Soviet minorities insist on complete freedom of emigration before granting Moscow trade concessions.

Brezhnev concentrated his politicking on the 22 senators who lunched with him at Blair House Tuesday, claiming some 95 per cent of the Jews who want to leave can do

And even while he was talking nuclear weaponry and reductions in Europe-based, divisions with Nixon in the Maryland mountains Wednesday, his spokesman, Leonid M. Zamyatin, director general of Tass, continued to pitch hard for trade. Choosing his words carefully, the suave

Soviet official suggested large-scale trade agreements and peaceful coexistence go hand in hand. "You see," he said, "when the development of trade is being discussed on a long-term aspect, say for a period of 10 to 15 years, this creates a. tremendous potential of trust, and we regard this as one economic relations on a long-term basis."

Even before the summit talks, two American firms, El Paso Natural Gas and Occidental Petroleum signed a letter of intent to import more than $10 billion worth of natural gas from the Soviet Union over 25 years.

In another move, the Nixon administration formally endorsed an $8billion 20-year fertilizer deal between the Soviet Union and Occidental Petroleum

Kelley Back Home After Questioning

KANSAS CITY (AP) - Clarence M. Kelley, President Nixon's choice as permanent director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, returned to his home, family and police chief's job Wednesday night, offering little more than a grin and handshake to a smattering of admirers at the airport.

For the past two days, Kelley, 61, has undergone grueling questioning by the Senate Judiciary Committee.

Brushing aside all questions on his testimony and the hearings, Kelley said only that he was "glad to be back in Kansas

Only an FBI agent and a reporter met Kelley, but several people recognized him, crowding around for a glimpse.

Steady Leakages May End Secret Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) - Because of new leaks of closed-door interviews, the two ranking members of the Senate Watergate committee indicated Thursday the committee may stop taking testimony in Detailed news accounts surfaced this week about testimony by fired White House counsel John W. Dean III in a private session with Senate investigators last Saturday. Some of his testimony implicates President Nixon in the Watergate cover-up.

The committee postponed until next Dean's scheduled televised appearance while Nixon conducts his current summit conference with Soviet leader Leonid I. Brezhnev. It was felt Dean's allegations about Nixon could interfere with the progress of the summit. But Dean's Watergate story flooded out from Senate sources. "I know of no way to stop men from talking," said Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., the committee's chairman.

"I nearly despair of do it," said Sen. Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn.,

Deaths Show Wider Split Than Thought

BUENOS AIRES (AP) — Gunbattles that took at least 20 lives as Juan D. Peron returned home from exile revealed on Thursday a wider split than previously thought in the ranks of the Argentine strong man's political movement.

The shooting by his divided followers could bring on a thorough reorganization of his movement including the Cabinet of Peronist President Hector J. Campora, reliable sources said.

About two million persons rallied in a meadow near Ezeiza Airport on Wednesday hoping to welcome Peron. Shots broke out between radical youths and moderate unionist members of his movement who were fighting for control of the rostrum at the airport.

Bullets sprayed into the multitude in a series of running battles, and when the shooting tapered off at dusk, at least 20 persons had been killed and more than 350 were wounded.

Instead of enjoying his triumphal welcome, the 77-year-old Peron and Campora landed in a chartered jet at a military airfield several miles away under strict security. A helicopter took them to the presidential residence at suburban Olivos, bypassing the crowds. The disappointed horde boarded free trains Thursday to return to the provinces and watch Peron's television address. "I give you a thousand apologies for not having had the opportunity to greet you," Peron said in brief television remarks

News accounts this week have quoted Dean as saying that Nixon was aware of the Watergate cover-up and once suggested to Dean that Internal Revenue Service audits be "turned off" on some of his friends.

Stories based on Dean's closed-door testimony have quoted him as saying the President told him that the late J. Edgar Hoover once advised Nixon his 1968 campaign was the subject of electronic surveillance. Dean was reported to have quoted the President as saying Nixon might use wiretapping against future political opponents.

Another story quoting Dean said the probe into the Watergate affair on orders from the President. One leaked story said Dean reported he was told Nixon had been consulted before an offer of executive clemency was made in his name to a Watergate defendant.

Registration Effort Gains 1,600 Names

About 1,600 of the approximately 6,000 county voters who do not live in Sedalia have registered to vote, Mrs. Mary Jane Wilson, Pettis County clerk, said Thursday.

Mrs. Wilson said about 1,200 persons registered at the courthouse and the others were recently registered during voter registration drives in Smithton, Green Ridge and LaMonte.

County-wide voter registration was approved by voters in last November's general election. Persons living in Sedalia presently are required to register before they can vote. Every other voter in the county now must register to vote before the 1974 August primary elections, Mrs. Wilson said.

The county clerk said that her voter registration campaign will go to Hughesville and Houstonia next week. The exact days have not been determined, she

Mrs. Wilson said she will open her office on Saturdays in the future to give persons who are unable to go to the courthouse on weekdays a chance to register to vote.

County clerk's employes also will visit each of 16 county precincts later this year to facilitate county-wide voter registration,

Education, Health Programs Funded

WASHINGTON (AP) - The House Appropriations Committee today approved funds for a wide variety of health and education programs President Nixon wants to cut back or abolish.

It sent to the House floor a bill that would provide $32.8 billion to run the Departments of Labor and Health, Education and Welfare for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The total is $1.2 billion over Nixon's budget.

Among the programs marked for extinction by the administration that the bill would revive is the Office of Economic Opportunity's community action program, which supports 977 local antipoverty

12 Americans Among Dead In Air Crash

3X -6-22,24,25

PUERTO VALLARTA, Mexico (AP) — A Mexican airliner with 12 Americans aboard crashed in Mexico, and a rescue flier said Thursday that all 27 persons aboard were killed.

The Aeromexico DC9 flight, originating in Houston, Tex., carried 23 passengers and a crew of four when it crashed after stopping in Monterrey, the airline said. The plane, flight 229 had a final destination of Mexico City. It crashed about 11:30 p.m. EDT Wednesday in a jungled, mountainous area about 14 miles from the Puerto Vallarta airport. It was making what appeared to be a normal landing approach, authorities said. All of the Americans had boarded the plane in Houston. Eleven were going to Puerto Vallarta and one was going to Mexico City, Mexican immigration authorities said. Miguel Chacon, a helicopter pilot who landed at the crash site, said all the bodies were removed and there were no survivors. He said large portions of the plane were Rescuers had to hack through the jungle to reach the crash site, near the Pacific coast. The bodies were carried through the jungle to trucks, which removed them to the beach where they were taken to Puerto Vallarta by boats.

Witnesses said the plane appeared to explode or spurt flame as it made its final approach to the Puerto Vallarta Airport. All had been normal on the approach, the air traffic controller reported, until suddenly the plane lost radio contact and flamed after Capt. Carlos Fernandez de Lara tested his landing lights.

Aeromexico, formerly Aeronaves de Mexico, is a government-owned airline.

Mayors Don't Swing Over To Nixon View

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - The Nixon administration has failed to win big city mayors to its version of special revenue sharing for community programs.

Despite the lobbying efforts of about 35 federal officials and speeches by U.S. Housing and Urban Development Secretary James T. Lynn and Domestic Council Director Ken Cole, the U.S. Conference of Mayors voted to seek changes in the Nixon proposal.

The action came on Wednesday as the conference ended its annual meeting. It represents cities of more than 30,000 popu-The mayors voted within two hours after general revenue-sharing bill. But the Congress has been openly hostile to Nixon's special revenue-sharing plan for community development, the Better Communities Act. The administration proposes that it take effect July 1, 1974, with a first-year appropriation of $2.3 billion.

The special revenue sharing would replace seven existing community development programs, including urban renewal and Model Cities, under which the federal government has set the goals and reviewed each project application. Under special revenue sharing, the cities automatically would get money on the basis of population, poverty and overcrowding in housing. The government would not set goals and would not review projects. This kind of freedom from federal controls and red tape has been a goal of the mayors for many years, but they want the federal government to retain a statement of goals and a very simplified federal review procedure.
